Local Farm Opens Strawberry U-Pick Experience

GREENVILLE, INDIANA (May 29, 2025) – Sunny Acres Farm, a fifth-generation farm known for its fresh produce, is excited to announce the launch of its new Strawberry U-Pick option, allowing visitors to pick their own berries straight from the field, beginning June 1, 2025.

“We are so excited to continue to share our fresh produce with our community, and adding U-Pick strawberries allows families to make memories and enjoy our berry patch experience,” said Jane Doe, owner of Sunny Acres Farm.

Guests can experience handpicking strawberries in their 2-acre strawberry patch, enjoy homemade treats at the market, and create long-lasting memories. Additionally, children’s activities are available while visiting, including a barnyard play area, petting zoo, and tractor rides.

“The Indiana Grown team is excited to see how Sunny Acres Farm’s new venture connects families to local agriculture,” said Caroline Patrick, Indiana Grown Director. “It is always rewarding to support local growers in sharing Indiana agriculture with their communities.”

The Strawberry U-Pick experience will be available beginning June 1, 2025, from 9AM to 3PM daily. Berries are sold by weight and will be available during season, estimating closing at the end of June.
